FULL PARTICULARS OF THE ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT —AND— Secretary Seward!

War Department,
Washington, Apr. 15—1:30 a. m.

Maj. Gen. Dix.

This evening, at about 9:30 p. m., at Ford's Theatre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs Harris and Maj. Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President. The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape in the rear of the Theatre. The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal. The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted, and is now dying.

About the same hour an assassin, whether the same or not, entered Mr. Seward's apartments, and under pretense of having a prescription, was shown to the Secretary's sick chamber. The assassin immediately rushed to the bed and inflicted two or three stabs on the throat and two on the face. It is hoped the wounds may not be mortal My apprehension is that they will prove fatal.

The nurse alarmed Mr. Frederick Seward who was in an adjoining room and hastened to the door of his father's room, when he met the assassin, who inflicted upon him one or more dangerous wounds.

The recovery of Frederick Seward is doubtful. It is not probable that the President will live through the night.

Gen. Grant and wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening, but he started to Burlington at six o'clock this evening.

At a Cabinet meeting at which General Grant was present, the subject of the state of the country and the prospect of a speedy peace was discussed.

The President was very cheerful and hopeful, and spoke very kindly of Gen. Lee and others of the confederacy, and of the establishment of government in Virginia.

All the members of the Cabinet, except Mr. Seward, are now in attendance upon the President.

I have seen Mr. Seward, but he and Frederick were both unconscious.

[Signed.] E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

Washington, April 15.

The President and Mrs. Lincoln did not start for the theatre until 8 o'clock.

Speaker Colfax was at the White House at the time, and the President stated to him that he was going although Mrs. Lincoln had not been well, because the papers had announced that Gen. Grant and they were to be present, and as Gen. Grant had gone North, he did not wish the audience to be disappointed. He went with apparent reluctance, and urged Mr. Colfax to go with him, but that gentleman had made other engagement, and with Mr. Ashman of Massachusetts bid him good bye.

When the excitement at the theatre was at its wildest height, reports were circulated that Secretary Seward had also been assassinated. On reaching this gentleman's residence a crowd and a military guard were found at the door, and on entering it was ascertained that the reports were based on truth. Every body there was so excited that scarcely an intelligible word could be gathered, but the facts are substantially as follows:

About ten o'clock a man rang the bell, and the call having been answered by a colored servant, he said he had come from Dr. Verdi, Secretary Seward's family physician, with a prescription—at the same time holding in his hand a small piece of folded paper—and saying, in answer to a refusal, "that he must see the Secretary, as he was entrusted with particular directions concerning the medicine." He still insisted on going up, although repeatedly informed that no one could enter the chamber. The man pushed the servant aside, walked heavily toward the Secretary's room, and was then met by Mr Frederick Seward, of whom he demanded to see the Secretary, making the same representation which he did to the servant.

What further passed in the way of colloquy is not known, but the man struck him on the head with a billy, severely injuring the skull and felling almost senseless. The assassin then rushed into the chamber and attacked Maj Seward, Paymaster U. S. A and Mr. Hansell, Messenger of the State Department and two male nurses, disabling them all. He then rushed upon the Secretary, who was lying in bed in the same room, and inflicted three stabs in the neck, but severing, it is thought and hoped no arteries, though he bled profusely. The assassin then rushed down stairs, mounted his horse at the door and rode off before an alarm could be sounded and in the same manner as the assassin of the President.

It is believed that the injuries of the Secretary are not fatal, nor those of either of the others, although both the Secretary and the Assistant Secretary are very seriously injured.

Secretaries Stanton and Welles, and other prominent officers of the government called at Secretary Seward's house to inquire into his condition, and there heard of the assassination of the President. They then proceeded to the house where he was lying exhibiting, of course, intense anxiety and solicitude.

An immense crowd was gathered in front of the President's house, and a strong guard was also stationed there, many persons evidently supposing he would be brought to his home.

The entire city to-night presents a scene of wild excitement, accompanied by violent expressions of indignation, and the profoundest sorrow. Many shed tears.

The military authorities have despatched mounted patrols in every direction, in order, if possible, to arrest the assassins. The whole Metropolitan police are likewise vigilant for the same purpose.

The attacks both at the theatre and at Secretary Seward's house, took place at about the same hour (ten o'clock) thus showing a preconcerted plan to assassinate those gentlemen.

Evidence of the guilt of the party who attacked the President are in the possession of the police.

Vice President Johnson is in the city and his headquarters are guarded by troops

[OFFICIAL.]

War Department,
Washington, April 15—8 A. M.

To Maj. Gen. Dix:

Abraham Lincoln died this morning at twenty-two minutes after 7 o'clock.

Frederick Seward's skull is fractured in two places, besides a severe cut upon the head.

The attendant is still alive, but hopeless.

Major Seward's wounds are not dangerous.

It is now ascertained with reasonable certainty, that two assassins were engaged in the horrible crime,—Wilkes Booth being the one that shot the President; the other was a companion of his, whose name is not known, but whose description is so clear that he can hardly escape.

It appears from a letter found in Booth's trunk, that the murder was planned before the 4th of March, but fell through then because the accomplice backed out until Richmond could be heard from. Booth and his accomplice was at the livery stable at six o'clock last evening, and left there with their horses about 10 o'clock, or shortly before that hour.

It would seem that they had been for several days seeking their chance, but for some unknown reason it was not carried into effect until last night. One of them has evidently made his way to Baltimore. The other has not yet been traced.

Secretary of War.

New Orleans, April 8.

A special dispatch to the New Orleans Times from the Spanish Fort, dated April 5, says:

A furious fire was opened on the rebel forts last night from our entire line. During the bombardment, a small magazine in the Spanish Fort exploded The damage is unknown

Quiet prevailed on the 5th.

Deserters report from 18,000 to 20,000 troops in and about Mobile, including all the State reserves, and about 2,000 in Spanish Fort.

The loss outside Spanish Fort, up to the 4th inst., amounts to 590 killed and wounded. The rebel loss exceeds ours.

Adj't General Thomas arrived at New Orleans on the 7th.

Mobile papers of the 4th, announce the capture of Selma, Ala., with 23 pieces of artillery and a large amount of government property.

New York, April 15.

Jeff. Davis, on the 5th inst., issued from Danville, Va., a proclamation, in which he says that General Lee having found it necessary to make such movements of his troops as to uncover Richmond, it would be unwise to conceal the moral and material injury resulting to the rebel cause from its occupation by the national troops. Still, he endeavors to convince his deluded followers that even this event is a blessing in disguise, as it would liberate Lee's army for more important operations. He announced his purpose to still maintain his bad cause with his whole heart and soul, and to never submit to the abandonment of one State of the Confederacy. Virginia, he declares, shall be held and defended, and no peace ever be made with the infamous invaders of her territory.

New York, April 15.

The Herald's Goldsboro correspondence says:

Sherman's army commenced its advance on the morning of the 9th, in three columns under Howard, Slocum and Schofield.

During the rejoicings over the news from Richmond, General Sherman was called out by his troops, and he addressed a few words to them all, saying he was informed Richmond had been captured, and Lee was flying in dismay. He said Grant wrote that he was pursuing Lee, and he hoped he (Sherman) would press Johnston. I think we will do it, said Sherman. The soldiers cried "We will, we will!" Sherman told his soldiers that he did not mean to let Johnston have any rest.

Johnston has evacuated Raleigh, moving west, and leaving the town in possession of Hampton's cavalry.

New York, April 15.

A rebel despatch dated Augusta, April 5, indicates that Alabama is overrun by Union cavalry, under Wilson and other commanders, all moving towards Mobile.

McCook's forces are reported to have burned the Red Mountain Iron Works, and the village of Elaton, and topped the telegraph at several places, sending despatches to rebel officers.

Two colums of Yankees are also reported moving on Columbus, Miss. The same despatch says the rebel steamer Gertrude, with a cargo valued at $2,000,000 was sunk in Spanish river near Mobile, on the 31st ult., by collision with the Natchez.

New York, April 15.

A Washington dispatch says, President Lincoln yesterday revoked the passes to Hunter, Letcher, and other leading rebels to visit Richmond. The President was willing to have a conference held, but did not want it controlled by them.

New York, April 15.

Intense sorrow is depicted in all countenances at the terrible events that occurred in Washington last night, and the grief of all good men is apparent everywhere at the demise of the President.

No flags were hoisted in this city this morning, until the state of the President was known, when they were all placed at half mast.

The people appear perfectly horrified, and the utmost rage is felt towards all known secessionists and rebel sympathizers.

Washington, April 15—8:40 a. m.

President Lincoln died this morning at half-past 7 o'clock.

Major General Auger, commanding the Department of Washington, has offered a reward of $10,000 to the party or parties arresting the murderer of the President, and the assassinator of the Secretary of State and his son.

New York, April 15.

The Danville Register of the 5th instant, says:

Breckenridge, the rebel Quartermaster, Commissary General, and other officers, were expected to reach that city on horseback on the 6th.

The Herald's correspondence says:—An expedition lately went up the Chowan river and captured Winton and Murfreesboro.

The ram which the rebels were building at Halifax, N. C., has been destroyed.

The ram Albemarle has been raised by our men, and found to be not seriously injured

The Herald's Goldsboro correspondence has a report from Raleigh saying that Gov Vance will call the North Carolina Legislature together to repeal the secession ordinance.

The World's Goldsboro correspondence of the 10th, says:

The Raleigh Confederate of the 5th inst states that the city was sacked and mobbed by the lower classes. The 16th Va. Reserves were left to protect the people, but were unable to do so. The mob took possession of some of the larger warehouses and stores and robbed them.

Washington, April 14.

Generals Ewell, Corse, Hunter, Burton, Kershaw, Dubois, Sims, and other officers, with about 50 rebel soldiers, arrived here today. Ewell and the other officers want to be admitted under the terms of Lee's surrender.

The government has advices that at the latest dates, the pirate Shenandoah was at Melbourne, undergoing alterations so as to work four more 8-inch guns. Her officers hoped to enlist 100 more men.

Fall River, Mass., 15th.

On receipt of the melancholy news of the assassination of the President this morning, and while a large crowd of citizens were gathered around the bulletin-boards, reading the dispatches and giving expression to their deep and most heartfelt sorrow, a notorious copperhead, secesh sympathizer, and liquor dealer, named Leonard Wood, was heard to declare that it was the best news he had heard for forty years.

He had no sooner uttered this atrocious sentiment, than he was seized by the indignant bystanders, struck, booted about the streets, and compelled to go into a store, procure an American flag, unfurl and salute it with three cheers. He then rushed to his store, where he locked himself in, but the crowd surrounded his place, and were making preparations to break in, when the City Marshal and Mayor appeared, and escorted him to the city lock-up, where he is now confined. The crowd then returned to his store, stave in the windows, and smashed up things generally. They then visited other copperheads, compelling them to show the American flag.

Philadelphia, April 15.

General Grant arrived in this city late last night, on his way to Jersey, but was overtaken on his way to Walnut-St. Wharf by a dispatch from the office of the Associated Press, and it is supposed he returned to Washington immediately.

The most intense horror is excited by the lamentable fate of the President.

Washington, April, 15.

Two gentlemen who waited on the Sec'y of War to apprise him of the attack on Mr Lincoln, met at the residence of the former, a man muffled in a cloak, who when accosted by them, hastened away.

It had been Mr. Stanton's intention to accompany Mr. Lincoln to the theatre and occupy the same box, but a press of business prevented. It therefore seems evident that the aim of the plotters was to paralyze the country by at once striking down its head, heart, and arm.

As soon as the dreadful events were announced in the streets, Superintendent Richards and his assistants were at work to discover the assassins.

In a few moments the telegraph had aroused the whole police force of the city Mayor Wallack and several members of the City Government were soon on the spot, and every preparation was made to preserve order and quiet Every street was patrolled.

At the request of Mr. Richards, General Augur sent horses to mount the police. Every road leading out of Washington is strongly picketed, and every possible avenue of escape thoroughly guarded. Steamboats about to start down the Potomac were stopped.

The Chronicle says:

As it is suspected this conspiracy originated in Maryland, the telegraph flashed the mournful news to Baltimore, and all the cavalry were put upon active duty. Every road was picketed, and every precaution taken to prevent the escape of the assassin.

A preliminary examination has been made by Superintendent Richards and assistants. Several persons were called to testify, and the evidence is conclusive to this point, viz: That the murderer of the President was J. Wilkes Booth. His hat was found in the private box, and identified by several persons who had seen him within the last two days, and the spur which he dropped by accident after he jumped to the stage, was identified as one of those which he had obtained from the stable where he had hired his horse.

This man, Booth, has played more than once at Ford's Theatre, and is of course acquainted with its exits and entrances, and the facility with which he escaped behind the scenes is easily understood.

New York, April 15.

The Tribune's special Washington despatch says:

Gen. Lee confessed to General Grant that Johnston's entire force would not more than 10,000.

Lee surrendered less than 8000 fighting men to Grant, and less than 5000 muskets. Grant had 123,000 men under his command

Gen. Butler has written a letter resigning his position.

New York, April 15.

The Tribune's Goldsboro correspondent under date of the 11th, says:

Sherman's army is moving, and the advance has already engaged the enemy's cavalry, which had hovered about our lines on the other side of Little River, driving them.

San Francisco, April 14.

A movement has been started in California for a subscription to purchase a homestead for the family of John Brown.

War Department.
Provost Marshal General's Bureau,
Washington, April 15—9.45 a. m.

It is believed that the assassins of the President and Secretary Seward are attempting to escape to Canada. You will make a careful and thorough examination of all persons attempting to cross from the United States into Canada, and will arrest all suspicious persons. The most vigilant scrutiny on your part and the force at your disposal, is demanded. A description of the parties supposed to be implicated in the murder, will be telegraphed you to-day: but in the meantime be active in preventing the crossing of any suspicious persons

By order of the Secretary of War.

N. L JEFFERS,
Acting Provost Marshal General.

Lewiston, Me., April 15.

A man here rejoicing over the death of President Lincoln, was carried on a rail to the Provost Marshal's office, where it was ascertained he was a deserter. He was lodged in jail.

Burlington, N. J., April 15.

Lieut. General Grant left Burlington for Washington at 6 o'clock this morning.

(Signed) Mrs. U. S. GRANT.

Washington, April 15—11 a. m.

The Star extra says—

At 20 minutes past 7 o'clock, the President breathed his last, closing his eyes as if falling to sleep. His countenance assumed an expression of perfect serenity. There were no indications of pain and it was not known that he was dead until the gradually decreasing respiration ceased altogether

Immediately after the President's death, a Cabinet meeting was called by Secretary Stanton, and was held in the room in which the corpse lay. The results of the conference are as yet unknown.

Washington, April 15.

The President's body was removed to the Executive Mansion this morning in a hearse wrapped in the American flag It was escorted by a small guard of cavalry, General Augur and other military officers following. A dense crowd followed the remains to the White House. None but persons of the household, and the personal friends of the deceased, however, were allowed to enter the house. The body is being embalmed with a view to its removal to Illinois

Our citizens are [illegible] their premises with mourning; [illegible] bells are tolling mournfully; all is the deepest gloom and sadness; strong men are seen weeping in the streets; the grief is wide spread and deep; this is indeed a day of gloom.

The roads leading to and from the city are guarded by the military, and the utmost circumspection is observed as to all attempting to enter or leave the city.

New York, April 15.

The Commercial's Washington despatch says—

It is expected that the Secretary of State will recover. His wounds are doing well.

Baltimore, April 15

The feeling here at the horrible crime that has deprived the country of its beloved President is too deep for utterance. The sorrow is profound The bells are tolling mournfully. A profound rage prevails all loyal hearts. One intense feeling of abhorrence and detestation of all connected with the rebellion, has taken the place of every other feeling.

Washington, April 15.

At an early hour this morning, E. M Stanton, Secretary of War, sent an official communication to Hon. Andrew Johnson, Vice President of the United States, stating that in consequence of the sudden and unexpected death of the Chief Magistrate, his inauguration should take place as soon as possible, and requesting him to state the place and hour at which the ceremony should be performed.

Mr. Johnson immediately replied that it would be agreeable to him to have the proceedings take place at his rooms at the Kirkwood House, as soon as the arrangements could be perfected. Chief Justice Chase was informed of the fact, and repaired to the appointed place with Secretary McCulloch, Attorney General Speed, J. B Blair, Sr., Hon. M. Blair, Senators Foot of Vermont, Ramsey of Minnesota, Yates of Illinois, Stewart of Nevada, Hale of N. H., General Farnsworth of Illinois.

At 11 o'clock the oath of office was administered by the Chief Justice of the United States in his usual solemn manner.

Mr. Johnson said, "The duties of the office are mine; I will perform them;—the consequences are with God. Gentlemen, I shall need your support;—I am deeply impressed with the solemnity of the occasion and the responsibility of the office I am assuming."

Mr. Johnson appeared to be in remarkably good health, and has a realizing sense of the hopes that are centered upon him. His manner was solemn and dignified.

Washington, April 15.

From the evidence obtained, it is considered highly probable that the man who stabbed Mr Seward and his son is John Surratt of Prince George County, Md. The horse he rode was hired at Naylor's stable. Surratt is a young man with light hair and goatee. His father is said to have been the Postmaster of Prince George County.

Washington, April 15.

About 11 last evening two men crossed the Annacosta bridge, one of whom gave his name as Booth, and the other as Smith. The latter is believed to be Surratt.

A riderless horse was found last night which has been identified by the proprietor of one of the stables as having been hired from his stable.

Halifax, April 15.

Upon the announcement of President Lincoln's death, our Parliament adjourned.

Flags on the Government House, Citadel, American Consulate and the American vessels in port are at half-mast

The blockade runner Col. Lamb is gaily decked with flags.

Lee's Surrender The following particulars are from "Carleton's" account:

THE LAST POSITION.

Lee succeeded in reuniting his troops, numbering not more than a division, such as once marched under his direction up the hights of Gettysburg, or moved into the fight in the Wilderness; but when reunited and ready to move he found the cloud which had hung upon his flank and pierced his rear, all around him, enveloping him on the North, the East, the South, the West, holding every avenue of escape. Sheridan had swung past him and was holding the highway towards Lynchburg Ord with the twenty-fourth and Griffin with the fifth were South of him, holding the road leading to Danville, while Wright and Humphrey East and North, were preparing to press on, to drive him over against Sheridan, who would toss him down towards Ord and Griffin.

A mile east of the Court House at Sulpher Spring his lines were broken and a battery of Napoleon guns was lost. His force was melting away under the unceasing skirmish fire. His men were worn down by the hard marching and constant fighting, and the depression of spirits consequent upon disaster. His provisions were getting low, and his condition was becoming hopeless

At this stage of the game Lee received a letter from Grant demanding the surrender of his troops. He called his officers into council.

LEE'S LAST COUNCIL OF WAR.

His leading generals—Longstreet, Pickett, Gordon, Heth and others, were summoned. The condition of affairs was discussed. It was a gloomy hour. It was said that Lee was much depressed. They did not at this moment know that the infantry under Ord and Griffin were south of them, but supposed that their way was disputed only by Sheridan. It was decided to force a passage. The attack was made, but the volleys of musketry and the vigor of the cannonade, and the long lines of men in blue, of white and colored soldiers, convinced Lee that he had little chance of escaping The skirmishing was kept up through the day—both parties too wearied and exhausted to fight a general battle—yet each moment of delay made Lee's condition more hopeless.

SUNDAY MORNING.

The Second Corps was in position on Sunday morning, waiting the order to advance, when a flag of truce was displayed in front of Miles' division. Capt. J. D. Cook of Miles' staff, was sent to receive it. He was met by Col. Taylor of Lee's staff, who bro't a note from Lee wishing a suspension of hostilities to take into consideration the terms offered by General Grant on Saturday. Gen. Meade signified by note that he had no authority to enter into an armistice, but would wait two hours before making an attack, and would communicate with General Grant

Before the expiration of the time General Grant arrived, and a correspondence with Lee followed, which resulted in the appointment of a place of meeting for a more full consideration of the terms proposed by Gen Grant.

MEETING OF GENERALS GRANT AND LEE.

In the little village of Appomattox Court House there is a large, square, brick house with a portico in front, the residence of Wilmer McLean Roses are budding in the garden, violets and daffodils are ready to bloom, and the trees which shade the building are green with the verdure of Spring. Gen. Lee designated it as the place for meeting Gen Grant. It was a little past two o'clock on Sunday afternoon when Gen. Lee, accompanied by Gen. Marshall, his chief of staff, entered the dwelling. A few minutes later Gen Grant, accompanied by Col. Parker, of his staff, chief of the Six Nations, a man of remarkable powers and of great acuteness and perception, although an Indian.

The meeting was cordial. After salutations the two commanders sat down, placed their hats on the table and conversed as freely as in other days when both were in service of the United States Gen. Lee alluded to the correspondence which had passed between them.

"General, I have requested this interview to know more fully the terms which you propose," said Gen. Lee.

Gen. Grant replied that he would grant a parole to officers and men, that the officers might retain their side arms and their personal effects. Gen. Lee assented to the proposition and did not ask for any modification of the terms, which were then engrossed. The paper was signed by Gen Lee at half past three o'clock.

After he had affixed his signature, Gen. Lee asked for Gen. Grant's understanding of the term "personal effects" which had been given in the instrument.

"Many of my cavalrymen own their horses," he said.

"I think that the horses must be turned over to the United States," was the reply.

"I coincide in that opinion," was Lee's rejoinder

"But," said Gen. Grant, I will instruct the officers who are appointed to carry out the capitulation to allow those who own horses to take them home. They will need them to do their spring plowing and to till their farms."

"Allow me to express my thanks for such consideration and generosity on your part. It cannot fail of having a good effect," Gen. Lee replied with visible emotion at the magnanimity which Gen. Grant had displayed

After further conversation Gen. Lee expressed a hope that each soldier of his army might be furnished with a certificate or some other evidence of parole, to prevent them from being forced into further service by Confederate conscripting officers.

"I will order such certificates to be issued to every man," said Gen. Grant, and as soon as the preliminaries were settled, the headquarters printing press was put to work striking off blanks for that purpose.

Gen. Lee said that he had not the slightest idea of the number of men composing his army, as no returns had been made since the fight began on Hatcher's Run. The army had suffered constant depletion from casualties, loss of prisoners, deserters and stragglers. The estimates of the force surrendered ranges from eighteen to twenty thousand, but till the rolls are made out the number cannot be definitely determined.

Grant hearing that Lee's troops were short of provisions, at once ordered twenty-five thousand rations to be turned over to Lee's commissaries.

Gen. Grant had anticipated the surrender of Lee, and brought all the energy of the army to bring about that result. The question of terms had been discussed the evening previous around Grant's campfire. Gen Grant said that he wanted such a surrender as would break down the positions which France and England had taken, recognizing the rebels as belligerents. He did not wish for humiliating terms. He would not require a formal grounding of arms. The rebels were Americans. We were citizens of a common country, and his object was to restore them to the Union and not to degrade them.

EWELL'S CAPTURE.

The World's correspondent thus describes the last scene with Ewell:

At this moment the rebel General Ewell, who had heard, since 12 o'clock, the thunders of the retreating conflict on his left, sat, during a momentary halt, beneath a tree, writing a despatch which read as follows:

Gen Lee: For God's sake and humanity's sake, surrender your army. You are outnumbered and beaten. To continue the contest longer is to court nothing but slaughter and ruin Ewell.

Scarcely had it been signed when the rattle of carbines and the racket of musketry, from flank and front and rear, aroused the despondent rebel to "continue the contest" a little longer, for the sake of his own honor. Forming his lines on the banks of a difficult creek, he made at first a fierce resistance. The Sixth corps—Seymour and Wheaton's divisions—charged across with cheers, piercing his insufficient front. The cavalry rushing in by squadron, doubled up his right flank. The artillery of the Second corps plowed through his left and center.—One half hour and it was all over with Gen. Ewell.

Particulars of the Assassination.

We take the following from the special despatch of Saturday to the Boston Daily Advertiser:

The person who shot the President is represented as about thirty years of age, five feet nine inches in height, sparely built, of light complexion, dressed in dark clothing and having a genteel appearance. He entered the box which is known as the State box, being the upper box on the right hand side from the dress circle in the regular manner, and shot the President from behind, the ball entering the skull about in the middle, behind, and going in the direction of the left eye. It did not pass through, but apparently broke the frontal bone and forced out the brain to some extent.

The assassin was followed across the stage by a gentleman who sprung out from an orchestra chair. He rushed through the side door into an alley, thence to the avenue, and mounted a dark bay horse, which he apparently received from the hand of an accomplice, dashed up to F street, thence toward the back part of the city. The escape was so sudden that he effectually eluded pursuit. The assassin cried "sic semper tyrannis," in a sharp clear voice as he jumped to the stage and dropped his hat and a glove.

Two or three officers were in the box with the President and Mrs. Lincoln, who made an effort to stop the assassin, but were unsuccessful and received some bruises. The whole affair, from his entrance into the box to his escape from the theatre, occupied scarcely a minute, and the strangeness of the action found everybody wholly unprepared

The assault upon Mr. Seward appears to have been made almost at the same moment as that upon the President. Mr. Seward's wound is not dangerous in itself, but may prove so in connection with his recent injuries. The two assassins have both endeavored to leave the city to the northward apparently, not expecting to strike the river even so low down as the Chain Bridge. Cavalry have been sent in every direction to intercept them.

From the Journal's correspondent:

A gentleman present informs me that the President was seated in the box, listening attentively to the conclusion of the third act of the play, when the assassin entered Mr. Rathbone of New York, who was in the box, rose to inquire the cause of the interruption, but before he could speak the assassin drew a pocket pistol and aimed at the President's head, fired the fatal ball, which entered the back of the head, coming out near the eye. Dropping the pistol the assassin drew a bowie knife, and wounding Mr. Rathbone in the shoulder, leaped over the edge of the box down on the stage and disappeared behind the scenes, escaping by a side door. He mounted his horse and galloped away.

The President was shot with a common pocket pistol, resembling a Derringer, which the assassin fired within a few feet of him The fatal ball entered the head near the temple bone, about three inches from the left ear, and penetrated nearly to the eye.—He fell forward from the rocking chair in which he was seated, intent upon the performance, and remained in a state of syncope till he breathed his last breath, at twenty minutes past seven o'clock this morning

The report of the pistol and the theatrical exit of the assassin attracted attention to the President's box, which was entered by those in its vicinity, who raised him from the floor. As the back of the chair in which Mr. Lincoln sat was bloody, it was thought that he was wounded in the back, and his clothes were stripped from his shoulders, but no wound was at first found He was entirely insensible. Further search revealed the fact that he had been shot in the head, as described elsewhere.

Major Potter, Paymaster in the Army, and Major Rathbone, the latter having been in the box with President Lincoln, assisted by others, carried the President from the theatre, the blood from the death wound [illegible] ing upon the floor, stairway [illegible] as he was borne to the [illegible] house opposite, which was that of Mr. Ulke.

Mrs. Lincoln was assisted in crossing the street with the President in a frantic condition, both she and her young son uttering heart-rendering shrieks She was attended by Miss Laura Keene and others.

At the house, an army surgeon being at hand, he called for a small quantity of brandy, which was administered, and it was thereupon announced to the pressing, excited crowd that he was alive and not dead, as Mrs. Lincoln in her agony insisted. It was then found that Major Rathburn had received a wound in the arm which he had intentionally concealed to prevent excitement.—He then fainted. The Surgeon General was sent for, and Drs. Hall and Stone also arrived.

Senator Sumner was one of the first to arrive at the martyr's bedside. The Senator on being notified of the sad occurrence, hastened to the White House, where everything was tranquil, for the sentinels and the porter had only heard of the assault on Secretary Seward

Capt Robert Lincoln, who was there, was ignorant of the sad news in store for him, but soon a carriage dashed up with the tidings. Senator Sumner and Capt. Lincoln at once took the vehicle and were driven at full speed to the house in which the President lay. The surgeons pronounced him beyond the reach of their skill, as the brain was oozing from the wound. He lay insensible, and at first his pulse was at 15 Gradually, as the blood rushed toward the brain, it produced a painful pressure and the pulse increased, while the death-stricken man breathed heavily, painfully and with difficulty.

At times the surgeon introduced a probe, which would let out blood and produce temporary relief, but there was no hope. The sufferer's pulse increased to 100, while the rush of blood made his eyes protrude from the sockets, and the flesh around them became discolored. Fortunately for him, his last moments were passed in a state of unconsciousness, and he gave up the ghost without a murmur. May he rest in peace.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax was the last person who had an interview with Mr Lincoln before the party left the White House for the theatre. Mr. Lincoln was in unusually good spirits, and just before leaving, he said:—"Colfax, when we were at Richmond the other day Gen. Shepley gave Sumner the gavel used by the Speaker of the rebel Congress, to give to Stanton, but a Secretary of War doesn't need a gavel, and I told Sumner that he must ask Stanton to give it to you."

Vice President Johnson. A friend of ours who at one time resided in Tennessee and had a personal acquaintance with Andy Johnson, writes us as follows:

Now a few words about Andy Johnson. I do not wish to excuse him if he did become intoxicated on the 4th of March, and in that state present himself to take the oath of office, But I do not believe that he is an habitual drunkard. When I was in Tennessee, I never heard him accused of it by his bitterest opponents. All through his Congressional career he never betrayed such foul habits, nor did he when Governor of Tennessee. I believe him to be a great and patriotic man. I trust he will prove to be a man every way worthy the high position to which he has been called. That he will be faithful to his duties, I have not the least doubt. He has never failed in the past. As Representative and Senator in Congress, and both as civil and military Governor of Tennessee, he has always been true to the trusts committed to him If on the 4th of March, he was overtaken by a fault, I trust he will sin no more in this respect.

It is very difficult for me, who have known him so long to believe that he was intoxicated on that day.—[Bath Times.

Taking the Back Track. A grocer, whose shop is in the vicinity of the Portland Company's Works, was rather free with his tongue while the employees of that company were firing a salute on Monday in honor of the surrender of Lee. He hoped "the gun would burst and kill every one employed in firing it." Remarking upon the Latham affair, on Tuesday, he said he "should like to see any d—d Yankee molest him." On being told that the rebellion was crushed, he remarked that he "didn't see it."

Yesterday he was waited upon by the employees of the Portland Company, who obliged him to retract his remarks and salute the flag. As he claimed to owe no allegiance to our government, they obliged him to take an oath of allegiance. As he was so short sighted that he could not see the end of the rebellion, an excellent opera glass, in the shape of a pair of large sheet iron spectacles, was manufactured by the operatives, which they caused him to put on, and then, through them, to read a portion of the Declaration of Independence. His "John Bullism" all vanished under the teachings of the men of the Portland Company's Works.—[Press

All drafting and recruiting was stopped at the Provost Marshal's Office yesterday, much to the disappointment of a number of recruits who were waiting for their bounties

As the freight train on the G. T. R. R. was passing Graves' Hill, Falmouth, Thursday morning, the engineer discovered what he thought was a coat lying on the track. He slackened his speed to pick it up, when just as the engine reached it he was thunderstruck to discover a drunken fellow inside it, who had just sense enough to roll off the track down the embankment, thus saving his worthless life.—[Portland Courier.

Capt Leonard Hall, of this city, master of the schooner James Brophy, met a sudden death on board his vessel in Boston on Monday. He was shot in the temple, by the discharge of his own pistol. According to the statement in the Boston Journal he kept his revolver in his berth, and in taking it up, it was accidentally discharged.—[Rockland Gazette.

MONDAY, APRIL 17, 1865.

A NATION IN TEARS!

The astounding intelligence which was given to the country on Saturday morning of the base assassination of President Lincoln and the probable murder of Secretary Seward, created a more profound feeling of indignation and sorrow throughout the country than was ever before felt in any nation or clime. The particulars of the atrocious crime are before our readers in the telegraphic columns. Our great and good President is dead! Gone to his reward in the full fruition of the glorious work he was appointed by Providence to fulfill. The nation weeps for him who was the unyielding defender of Republican Liberty and the Rights of Man; but it may rejoice that he was spared to us until the great rebellion was crushed, and the cause of universal freedom on this continent forever secured. We cannot pierce the veil and perceive the inscrutable designs of the Almighty in this afflictive dispensation—but we may be well assured, that as the great events of the past have all been shaped and guided for the best good of the holy cause of freedom and humanity in our land, so this terrible stroke of affliction upon our people will be overruled for the benefit of our country and of the world. God rules! Let us have faith in his decrees, and bow in reverent submissiveness to his will.

The absorbing grief of the nation scarce leaves room for the deep indignation which arises against the authors of the monstrous deed which has taken from a nation its father and its friend. But it is there, down deep in the heart of every loyal man—and woe to any who sympathize with or rejoice over the unholy deed. They will be driven from the country and branded forever with the mark of Cain upon their foreheads.

Our whole city was draped in mourning on Saturday—stores and houses were hung in black, business suspended, flags craped and at half mast, all our church bells tolled, and minute guns fired from noon till four o'clock. A great public meeting was held in the morning, to make arrangements for a due observance of the obsequies of the President on the day of the funeral.

During the entire day the people were in the streets, full of grief at the sad loss of him who was even dearer to all hearts than Washington, the father of his country.—Strong men wept like children and wrung each others hands in an agony of sorrow, which struggled with the deepest indignation against those who were the authors of this atrocious crime. If the leaders of the accursed rebellion have been guilty of this thing let them prepare for an awful retribution. We know not Andrew Johnson, if a man of them is ever admitted to mercy, if it shall appear that this awful assassination was planned and executed with their connivance and support.

The utmost excitement prevailed on Saturday, in consequence of reports that several infatuated sympathizers with the rebels had been heard to rejoice over the death of President Lincoln. They were visited by highly enraged crowds and threatened with instant death—but were finally arrested by the police and committed to jail.

On Sunday the churches were hung in black, and the services devoted to the sad event which has clothed the nation in mourning. Rev. Mr. Roland's discourse at the First Parish Church has been placed in our hands, and will be published to-morrow. Mr. Everett's very excellent sermon is also to be published, and perhaps some others.

Provision in Case of a Vacancy in the Office of President.

By the Constitution, and the Law passed by Congress, in case of a vacancy in the office of President the Vice President becomes President for the remainder of the term. If the offices of both President and Vice President become vacant, the President of the Senate pro tempore becomes President—and if there is no such President of the Senate, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives becomes President, until a President is elected. But in case of a vacancy in both offices of President and Vice President, by which the office of President falls upon the President pro tem. of the Senate, or upon the Speaker of the House, they do not necessarily hold the whole of the remainder of the term, but a new election is to be made by the people in the next November—provided the vacancy in the office of Vice President occurs at least two months before the day of election in November. If within two months of that day, the election is to be postponed a year from the then next November—unless the term of the former President would have expired on the then next Fourth of March—in which case, of course, there would be no new election to fill the vacancy.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

MEETING OF CITIZENS. At 10 o'clock a. m., on Saturday, by order of the Mayor, the City Hall bell was rung, and soon after the hall was filled to overflowing by our citizens called together by the sad tidings of the death of our President.

The meeting was organized by calling Judge Appleton to the chair, and appointing J. Bartlett Secretary.

Prayer was then offered by Rev. Dr. Pond.

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin was called upon to address the meeting, but said he could not trust his feelings to speak. He suggested that a committee of two from each ward be appointed to determine what measures should be adopted to express the feelings of our community over the sad event. The suggestion was adopted, and the following committee nominated, of which his honor Mayor Drle was made chairman:

Ward 1. Josiah S. Ricker,
A. D. Manson.
" 2. Charles Hayward,
Thomas Mason.
" 3. W. H. Mills,
Enoch Pond.
" 4. S. H. Blake,
A. W. Paine.
" 5. Charles Stetson,
Hastings Strickland,
" 6. S. P. Strickland,
Thomas Trickey.
" 7. D. Hughes,
J. H. Bowler.

The Committee reported the following programme:

All the stores and places of business to be closed from 12 M. to 4 P. M.; minute guns to be fired during this time and bells tolled, the citizens to place on their stores and residences mourning badges.

The committee will report to-day a programme of the exercises for the day of the funeral.

☞Steamer Katahdin arrived here yesterday forenoon on her first trip for the season. She is in tip-top condition for the summer's work, having been thoroughly overhauled, repaired and renovated. There is no change in her accommodating and efficient staff of officers. They are as follows:

J. P. Johnson, Captain.
George J. Wall, Clerk.
Tyler R. Wasgatt, Jr., Assistant Clerk.
Ruel Stanley, Pilot.
Wm. T. Rogers, 2d Pilot.
Jas. Hathorn, Chief Engineer.

DRAFTING STOPPED. We understand that orders have been received by the Provost Marshals in Portland and Belfast, to discontinue recruiting and drafting, and to discharge all drafted men who have not been sent forward. Probably the same orders have been sent to Provost Marshal Low, who is now in Houlton engaged in the examination of drafted men in that portion of the District.

PROCEEDINGS IN SUPREME COURT. Upon the opening of the Court on Saturday morning, A. W. Paine, Esq., in behalf of the Bar, addressed the Court as follows:

YOUR HONOR:

A great calamity is upon us. The country in the midst of its joy and congratulations is suddenly overwhelmed with the deepest grief. On the anniversary of that day in which treason struck its first successful blow against the government, our great leader, who has so skillfully conducted our cause through the dangers which have so thickly clustered around us, is, in an unguarded moment stricken down by the hand of an assassin. Our President lies low in death. Just as our bell was this morning calling us to this hall for business he breathed his last, and the quick flash of the telegraph has in a moment brought the sad news to our ears. The brutality of that institution which led to the rebellion has culminated in the murder of him who, as our Chief Magistrate, represented the Government itself. The calamity comes upon us in the hour of victory, when peace had already begun to shed its rays upon the dome of the Capitol and lighten the hearts of the country. To us this Providence is inscrutable but we may trust that in this event, the hand of God is present, as it is now so plainly seen to have been in all the sad as well as joyful events of the years that have passed. For our good he has thus seen fit to afflict us, and we must trust where we cannot see. It becomes us to bow with reverence to His decree, and to tear from our brows the wreaths of triumph and joy, and put on the weeds of mourning. It becomes us to put aside as much as possible all thoughts of worldly business, for which we all feel now so entirely unfit, and to give ourselves up to the contemplation of the sad event that now so overwhelms us.

It is moved that the Court now adjourn.

Judge Cutting responded in an appropriate and feeling manner, and ordered an adjournment to Monday P. M.

☞We learn from the Waterville Mail that Mr. William Redington of that town, son of the late Asa Redington, Esq., died of apoplexy on Sunday last.

☞Capt. Charles I. Sawyer of the Maine Sharpshooters, reported killed, as stated by us on Wednesday, belonged in Rockland and was highly esteemed there as a man and an officer.

AUGUSTA, April 15.

Editor of Daily Whig:

Intense excitement prevails. Some copperheads have expressed their joy on account of the death of the President. A quiet mob is now waiting on the most prominent and ordering them to throw out the U. S. Flag.

DR. TEBBETTS' PHYSIOLOGICAL

HAIR REGENERATOR!

ITS MODUS OPERANDI. Immediately beneath the scalp there are very small bodies called glands, or more commonly, roots of the hair. It is from these glands that every hair of the head is formed and secreted. So long as the scalp is free from disease, these bodies remain healthy, and the hair keeps its natural appearance and color. But when humors and other diseases affect the scalp, these glands become involved in the same disease, and the hair gradually turns gray, dry and brittle. Sooner or later the hair begins to fall off, and in many cases, if not arrested, will produce complete baldness.

To remedy this pathological condition of the glands, and create a new and healthy action, the PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR has proved a perfect success, inasmuch as it is the only preparation yet known that can boast of such wonderful results.

IT IS NOT A "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will certainly restore gray hair in all cases to its original color. It promotes a growth of new hair in all cases on bald heads when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off, and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every gray head in New England can be restored in less than thirty days.

Price, $1 00 per bottle.

RUMOR OF JOHNSTON'S SURRENDER!

WATHINGTON, April 45.

General Grant arrived here in a special train about noon and immediately proceeded to the President's house.

The second extra of the Evening Star says Col. Ingraham, Provost Marshal of the Department of the Potomac, is engaged in taking testimony to-day, all of which fixes the assassination upon J. Wilkes Booth.

Judge Olin of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and Justice Miller, are also engaged to-day at the Police head-quarters, in taking the testimony of a large number of witnesses.

Lieut. Tirrell of Col. Ingraham's staff, last night proceeded to the Nation House where Booth had been stopping, and took possession of his trunk, in which was found a Colonel's military dress-coat, two pairs of hand-cuffs, two boxes of pistol cartridges and a package of letters, all of which are now in possession of the authorities.

One of the letters bearing date Hookestown, Md., speaks of the mysterious affair in which you are engaged, and urges Booth to proceed to Richmond, and ascertain the views of the authorities there upon the subject. The writer endeavors to persuade Booth from carrying his design into execution at that time, for the reason that the government had its suspicions aroused.

The writer seems to have been implicated in the mysterious affair with Booth, as he informs Booth in a letter that he would prefer to express his views verbally, and then goes on to say he was out of money, had no clothes, and would be compelled to leave home, as his family were desirous he should dissolve his connection with Booth.

This letter is written on note paper, in a small neat hand, and simply bears the signature "Sam."

At a cabinet meeting yesterday, the future policy of the Government towards Virginia, was discussed—the best feeling prevailing.—It is stated that it was determined to adopt a very liberal policy as recommended by the President. It is said that this meeting was the most unanimous ever held for five years—the President throughout exhibiting magnanimity and kindness of heart, which ever characterised the treatment of rebellious States, and which has been so ill requited on their part. One member of the Cabinet remarked to a friend he met at the door, that the Government was stronger to-day that it had been for three years.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The Times' special Washington despatch says—

Secretary Seward will recover. Frederick Seward is still unconscious; he breathes calmly and has an easy pulse. His head is dreadfully contused and lacerated. An invalid soldier nurse saved Mr. Seward's life.

The Herald's special Washington despatch says—

Booth has been arrested near Baltimore, and will be placed for safe keeping on board a monitor at the Navy Yard in Washington, anchored in the stream, so as to keep him from the reach of the populace.

Various arrests have been made of parties suspected of being implicated. Some have proved their innocence, but others are held.

The letter found in Booth's trunk, which showed that the assassination was to take place about the 4th of March, and urging a postponement, said that the Government officers were suspicious, and it would be imprudent to do any thing then. It also advised Booth to go to Richmond and ascertain how such action would be regarded by the rebel government.

Further disclosures are withheld for the present.

Evidence sufficient has been accumulated to implicate some six different persons in the diabolical plot—all of them from this section and from Maryland.

Two pairs of hand-cuffs and a gag were found in Booth's trunk.

It appears that Booth had leased a stable in the rear of the theatre. He hired a horse from a livery stable in the afternoon, took it to the alley, and hired a servant from the lady of whom he hired the stable, to watch the horse while he perpetrated the deed.

Booth's mistress has attempted to commit suicide.

An actress at Grover's theatre received an anonymous note yesterday not to sing the song, "Sherman's March to the Sea."

Day before yesterday Booth called on Mr. Hess, the Treasurer of Grover's theatre, and urged him to announce some new and exciting play for Friday evening, and invite the President and other officials, and get up a sensation.

The best data that can be obtained shows that there were not over five or ten minutes difference between the time of the assault on the President and Mr. Seward, showing that it was not done by the same person.

WASHINGTON, April 15.

President Johnson and his Cabinet held their first formal meeting this afternoon at the Treasury Department.

President Johnson, in a conversation with a distinguished gentleman to-day, said that at present he saw no necessity of an extra session of Congress, and further, that he would not commit himself to a policy which would prevent his visiting condign punishment on traitors. He had been fighting the rebels here and in Tennessee, and his previous course might be regarded as an indication of his future conduct on this subject.

There are but comparatively few houses which are not dressed in mourning.

Secretary Seward and his son have not yet been pronounced out of danger.

The City Council met this evening to take such action as will be expressive of their regret for the death of the President has not been communicated to Secretary Seward, nor of the attack on his son, his critical condition rendering perfect quiet essential to his recovery. It is believed that an extensive conspiracy of desperadoes has been organized for murder on an extensive scale.—Various arrests have been made by the police, and several cases are undergoing examination.

WASHINGTON, April 16.

It is understood that the funeral of President Lincoln will take place Thursday next. Rev. Dr. Gurley, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, where the President and his family have been accustomed to worship, will doubtless be the officiating clergyman. The remains will be temporarily deposited in the vault of the Congressional Cemetery, and hereafter taken to Mr. Lincoln's home at Springfield, Illinois.

An extra Star has the following—

Developments have been made within the past 24 hours, showing conclusively the existence of a deep laid plot on the part of a gang of conspirators, including a number of the order of the "Knights of the Golden Circle," to murder Mr. Lincoln and his Cabinet.

We have reason to believe that Secretary Seward received an intimation several months since that something of a very desperate character was to transpire at Washington, and it is more than probable that the intimation had referred to the plot of assassination.

The pickets encircling this city on Friday night to prevent the escape of murderers, were fired upon by concealed foes. Arrests will promptly be made of parties charged with the offence.

A number of rebel officers who arrived here this morning by the mail boat from City Point, asked permission to take the oath. Their request was not granted for the present, and they were committed to the Old Capitol Prison.

WASHINGTON, April 16.

Yesterday morning Attorney Gen. Speed waited upon Hon. Andrew Johnson, Vice President of the United States, and officially informed him of the sudden and unexpected decease of President Lincoln, and suggested that an early hour might be appointed for the inauguration of his successor.

The following is a copy of the communication:

Washington City, April 15.

Sir:—Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, was shot by an assassin at Ford's Theater in this city last evening, and died at the hour of 22 minutes past seven o'clock.

About the same hour at which the President was shot, an assassin entered the sick chamber of Hon. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, and stabbed him in several places in the throat, neck and face, severely, if not mortally wounding him. Other members of the Secretary's family were dangerously wounded by the assassin while making his escape.

By the death of President Lincoln the office of President has devolved, under the Constitution, upon you. The emergency of the Government demands that you should immediately qualify yourself according to the Constitution and enter upon the duties of the President of the United States. If you will please make known your pleasure, such arrangements as you deem proper will be made. Your Obt. Svts.,

HUGH McCULLOCH,
Secretary of the Treasury.
EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.
GIDEON WELLES,
Secretary of the Navy.
WM. DENNISON,
Postmaster General.
J. P. USHER,
Secretary of the Interior.
JAMES SPEED,
Attorney General.

To Andrew Johnson, Vice President of the United States.

Mr. Johnson remarked,—

"Gentlemen, I must be permitted to say that I have been almost overwhelmed by the announcement of the sad event which has so recently occurred. I feel incompetent to perform duties so important and responsible as those which have been so unexpectedly thrown upon me. As to the indication of any policy which may be pursued by me in the administration of the Government, I have to say that it must be left for development. As the administration progresses, the message or declaration must be made by the acts as they transpire. The only assurance which I can now give of the future is reference to the past. The course which I have taken in the past, in connection with the rebellion, must be regarded as a guarantee of the future. My past public life which has been long and laborious, has I in good conscience believe, rests upon a great principle of right which lies at the basis of all things.

The best energies of my life have been spent in endeavoring to establish and perpetuate the principles of free government, and I believe that the Government, in passing through its present perils, will settle down upon the principles consonant with popular rights, more permanent and enduring than heretofore. I must be permitted to say, if I understand the feelings of my own heart, I have long labored to ameliorate and elevate the condition of the great mass of the American people. Toil and an honest advocacy of the great principles of free government have been my lot. The duties have been mine,—the consequences are God's.—This has been the foundation of my political creed. I feel that in the end the Government will triumph, and that these great principles will be permanently established.

In conclusion, gentlemen, let me say that I want your encouragement and countenance. I shall ask and rely upon you and others in carrying the government through its present perils. I feel in making this request that it will be heartily responded to by you and all other patriots and lovers of the rights and interests of a free people."

At the conclusion of the above remarks the President received the kind wishes of the friends by whom he was surrounded.

A few moments were devoted to conversation, all being deeply impressed with the solemnity of the occasion, and the recent sad occurrence that caused the necessity for a speedy inauguration of the President.

Mr. Johnson is in fine health and has an earnest sense of the important trust confided to him.

Wm. Hunter, chief clerk in the State Department, has been appointed acting Secretary of State.

A special meeting of the Cabinet was held at the Treasury Department at 10 o'cl'k this morning.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The Commercial's special Washington despatch says:

We have ascertained from a source perfectly reliable that during a conversation yesterday among the members of a Spanish firm of this city it was stated that to-day the greatest news would be received that had yet been made known to the public.—The fact of the statement was communicated to Gen. Peck this morning by a clerk of the establishment.

The Tribune's despatch says J. Wilkes Booth was arrested about 9 o'clock this morning near Fort Hastings on the Bladensburg road. He boldly approached our pickets, was arrested and brought to this city.

NOTE.—This is not confirmed by any official despatches from Washington up to 9 o'clock this (Saturday) evening.

Some special despatches state that Secretary Seward has given a detailed description of the assassin. It is evident that he was a different person from the President's murderer.

Frederick Seward is in a most critical condition, and the surgeons are removing the broken fragments from his skull.

A private despatch to Mr. Seward's nephew in this city from a member of the family, says:

"I have just left Mr Seward's house. His wounds are not mortal. He has lost much blood, but no arteries were cut. Frederick's skull is fractured in two places above the temple. He is insensible—fear he will die. Secretary Seward's throat would have been cut if he had not rolled out of bed. He has been informed of Mr. Lincoln's death."

Another despatch states that Frederick Seward is out of danger. Major Seward is not dangerously wounded.

Several impromptu street meetings have been held to-day and addressed by prominent gentlemen, the unanimous expression being to hold the rebel leaders to just account for their crimes. Two men expressing respect for Jeff. Davis were driven out of a newspaper counting room and hunted by a crowd, they seeking safety in flight.

WASHINGTON, April 15.

An autopsy was held this afternoon over the body of President Lincoln by Surgeon General Barnes and Dr. Stone, assisted by their medical men. The coffin for the President's remains is covered with black cloth and lined with lead, the latter being covered with white satin. A silver plate on the coffin over the breast bears the following inscription: "Abraham Lincoln, 16th President of the United States, Born July 12, 1809, died April 15, 1865." The remains have been embalmed. A few locks of hair were removed from the President's head for his family previous to his remains being placed in the coffin.

WASHINGTON, 15.

To-day no one is allowed to leave the city by rail, conveyance, or on foot, and the issuing of passes from headquarters of the department of Washington has been suspended by Gen. Augur.

PORTLAND, April 16.

The British steamship Moravian, Captain Aiton, at noon to-day hoisted the American flag at main half mast, and fired minute guns for half an hour. Her officers and crew paraded at quarters wearing crape on their arms.

Cutter Mahoning acknowledged the courtesy, hoisting the British ensign and firing minute guns half an hour.

NEW YORK, April 15.

The great meeting in Wall street was the most impressive ever held here. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Vermillies. Ex Governor King and Judge Pierrepont addressed the meeting, counselling the utmost support to the new President under the trying circumstances under which he assumes his new duties. Mr Butler addressed the meeting, saying a great and good man had gone to join the sages and patriots of the revolution. He drove out the life and strength of the rebellion. We must now crush out the soul of treason. We must crush out the spirit of rebellion, so that our cities will not be in danger of the torch of the traitor. Mr. Johnson is able to deal with the rebellion, therefore let every man take heart—not in a spirit of revenge should we demand reparation for this great wrong, but retribution must be brought against the perpetrators of this terrible crime.

Daniel S. Dickinson addressed the meeting, saying all that remained for slavery to do was to show its villanous and horrible nature by this atrocious assassination. It must now be hunted out like a ferocious beast. Let our amnesty extend to faithful men. Let it embrace all whose hearts are right. Let us dig out the roots of slavery and burn up the seeds—everything belonging to rebellion must be abolished. These murderers and thieves must be hunted from abodes of men.

Gen. Peck also addressed the meeting.

The resolutions passed pay a high tribute to the patriotism, high integrity and of love of the country evinced by the President—expresses heartfelt grief at the horrible event, but bow submissively to the will of God.

George Welles was arrested to-day for openly rejoicing over the death of the President and sent to the penitentiary by Judge Dowling.

All trains arriving here are thoroughly searched and a force of detectives have gone to Washington.

A gold gambler on Wall street gave vent to secession sentiments to-day, when preparations were immediately made to hang him to a lamp post, but the police barely saved him.

In Jersey City, Brooklyn and all neighboring cities and towns the most intense grief is exhibited by the citizens.

WASHINGTON, April 16.

Maj. Gen. Ord has issued an order addressed to the people of Richmond and vicinity that no difficulty will be made in admitting them with market wares to the city. They are invited to commence their ordinary traffic at once, and are assured of protection with the lines of the United States forces. The citizens of Richmond and shopkeepers and others are also requested to resume their ordinary avocations as speedily as possible. The wish of the military authorities is to protect all peaceable citizens and restore in as great a measure as may be practicable the former prosperity of the city. No molestation by soldiers or others will be allowed to any who are engaged in peaceful pursuits.

Gentlemen from Richmond this morning say this order has already met with a happy effect.

Another order has been issued by Gen. Ord as follows:

"All officers and soldiers of the army of Northern Virginia who were not present at the surrender of that army by General Robert E. Lee, at Appomattox Court House on the 9th of April, are hereby informed that the terms of capitulation are extended to them, and they can at once avail themselves of the same by coming within the lines of the United States at or near Richmond, laying down their arms and receiving their parole."

The gentleman who communicates the above says Gen. Lee did not after his surrender repair to North Carolina, but has been remaining at Appomattox Court House to carry out the terms of the capitulation. It is supposed that by this time he is in Richmond, Gen. Grant having extended to him the courtesy of an escort of 100 cavalry men. The best possible feeling exists between the two Generals.

The people of Virginia are gradually resuming their former business relations. All regard the war as practically at an end.

Nothing definite has recently been heard in Richmond respecting Johnston's army, but the general impression is that it will either be disbanded or melt away by desertion, provided a spirit to conciliate discontent elements be manifested.

The Richmond Whig of Saturday says—Col. Loomis, Assistant Special Treasury Agent, is expected in this city every day, with instructions, and that until he arrives and confers with Gen. Grant, no captured property coming under the Act of Congress authorizing the Treasury to take charge of it, will be permitted to be removed.

Libby Prison contained yesterday upwards of 3000 rebel prisoners, military, political, and civil. They are being released as fast as the necessary papers can be made out.

We learn that Col. Robert Ould, Lieut. Col. W. H. Hatch, Pres. Bullock of the Southern Express Company, and H. A. Hamilton, were captured within General Grant's lines while driving in a wagon, they having driven into his lines by mistake.—They were brought to Richmond and liberated on parole.

All prisoners of war arriving from Richmond to City Point are sent on as soon as received.—None but citizen prisoners and civilians are detained here, and so rapidly are they taking the oath that the blank forms have run out.

The following is Gen. Lee's farewell address to the Army of Northern Virginia:

HEAD QUARTERS Army Northern Va.,
April 10th, 1865.

General Order No. 9.

After four years' arduous services, marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to capitulate to overwhelming numbers and resources.

I need not tell the survivors of so many hard-fought battles, who remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to this result from no distrusts of them. But holding that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing that would compensate for the loss that would have attended a continuation of the contest, I have determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past vigor has endeared them to their countrymen.

By the the terms of agreement officers and men can return to their homes, and remain there until exchanged.

You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed.

I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend you his blessing and protection.

With an increasing admiration of your constancy and devotion to your country, and grateful remembrance of your kind and generous consideration of myself, I bid you an affectionate farewell.

(Signed) R. E. BEE,
General.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 15.

The Governor had appointed to-day for giving assent to bills passed, with the usual ceremonies, but upon receiving the sad news of President Lincoln's murder, he sent the following to the Council.

Government House,
Halifax, N. S., April 15, 1865.

My Dear Sirs:

The very shocking intelligence which has just reached me of the murder of President Lincoln by the hand of an assassin, and my sense of the greatness of the loss which the cause of order has sustained by the death of a man whom I have always regarded as eminently upright in his intentions, indisposes me to take any public ceremony, such as I had contemplated in my intended visit to the Legislative Council this day. I beg, therefore, to notify to you the postponement of that visit; and perhaps, under the circumstances, men of all parties may feel that the suspension of further public business for the day, would be a mark of sympathy not unbecoming the Legislature to offer, and one which none could misconstrue.

Believe me to be, my dear sirs,
Most faithfully yours,
RICHARD GRAVES McDONNELL.

To the Hon. Ed. Kenney, President of the Legislative Council.

The citizens generally unite in expressions of deep sympathy for the nation's loss.

It is reported that the flags on the Col. Lamb have been ordered down by the naval authorities.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The select assembly by the telegraphers of this city, announced for Monday evening, will, under the prevailing circumstances, be postponed a few days. Due notice will be given hereafter.

NEW YORK, April 16.

A private despatch from a member of Mr. Seward's family, received this (Sunday) afternoon, states that the condition of Frederick Seward has improved since morning, and hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

NEW YORK, April 15.

Jeff Davis on the 5th instant, issued from Danville, Va., a proclamation in which he says that Gen. Lee having found it necessary to make such movements of his troops as to uncover Richmond, it would be unwise to conceal the moral and material injury resulting to the rebel cause from its occupation by the national troops. Still he endeavors to convince his deluded followers that even this event is a blessing in disguise, as it would liberate Lee's army for more important operations. He announces his purpose to still maintain his bad cause with his whole heart and soul, and to never submit to the abandonment of one State of the Confederacy. Virginia, he declares, shall be held and defended, and no peace ever be made with the infamous invaders of his territory.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The Herald's correspondence from the City of Mexico of the 27th says Maximilian's subjects are much agitated over rumors that the Empire is shortly to be invaded by a large number of soldiers who have heretofore been fighting for Jeff Davis's confederacy. Gen. Price is said to be one of the leaders in the movement, and it is expected that during the coming summer an immense force of our rebels will cross the Rio Grande provided with arms, ammunition and other necessary supplies, and march to the assistance of President Juarez for the purpose of expelling the Europeans from the country.

Much indignation was manifested in Mexico by the publication of a statement that United States troops crossed the Rio Grande and destroyed 4000 bales of rebel cotton stored on Mexican soil.

NEW YORK, April 15.

A private despatch from an official source received in this city says:

Secretary Seward's throat was not cut, but his face was considerably gashed. He saved himself from more serious injuries by throwing himself from the bed.

The Post's Washington special despatch says:

Mr. Hansell, the messenger of the State Department, who was in attendance upon Mr. Seward is in a very precarious condition.

FORTRESS MONROE, Apr. 14.

By an arrival from Wilmington intelligence is received that Sherman took up his line of march northward from Goldsboro last Monday.

The steamer George Leary, from City Point, Va., this afternoon brings down a report of the surrender of Johnston to Gen Sherman, but this needs confirmation. The George Leary brought down direct from the front 60 bearers of battle flags and other trophies, including several beautiful State flags.

NEW HAVEN, April 15.

Business is entirely suspended. The bells are tolling, flags are at half mast and many buildings are draped in mourning. A large meeting of the citizens is being held in the public square.

PORTLAND, April 15, 1865.

The steamship Nova Scotian sailed for Liverpool at 3:15 p. m., to-day, with the latest news on board.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 15.

Gov. Fenton has issued a proclamation, appointing Thursday next as a day of public mourning, instead of thanksgiving.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The Times' special Washington despatch says:

Important action took place here yesterday, affecting the reconstruction movement in Richmond, and particularly that portion of it proposing a session of the rebel Legislature in Richmond, in face of the thousands of real Union men over whom they so long held evil sway.

General Weitzel and Shepley have been superceded for their action.

Secretary Stanton does not approve of Gen. Shepley's order concerning the prayer in the Episcopal Church in reference to the President.

The assemblage of the Virginia Legislature will be permitted only under arrest for treason.

NEW YORK, April 15.

Steamship Etna sailed at 5 20 this p. m., with full special despatches to our Ministers at foreign ports, from Washington.

Bishop Potter has issued an address to all clergymen, appointing appropriate prayers to be read to-morrow, and recommending the clothing of the churches in mourning.

In Brooklyn, Mayor Wood has issued a proclamation closing all public places of the municipality, directing all flags half-masted and the bells tolled.

The firemen of Williamsburg refused to toll their bells.

All the courts in this city and Brooklyn promptly adjourned this morning. Committees of the Chamber of Commerce, City Council, Aldermen, and other public bodies, have been joined to arrange for public funeral obsequies.

MONTREAL, April 15.

A requisition, originating with the leading men of this city, is in course of signature here, asking the Mayor to call a public meeting to express horror at the assassination of President Lincoln. All the flags are at half-mast, and the deepest sorrow prevails.

TORONTO, April 15.

The news of the tragedy in Washington caused a profound sensation. All the flags in the city and on the shipping are at half-mast; the stores and places of business owned by Americans, are closed. The feeling of grief by the Canadian people is intense, and they contemplate giving some public expression to it.

NEW YORK, April 15.

Despatches received from throughout this and other States, give evidence of the great grief shown by the whole people, and mourning emblems are displayed over the whole country.

BALTIMORE, April 15.

Business is entirely suspended. Some indignation was manifested on the street this morning by a crowd, in regard to obnoxious pictures, displayed by certain photographers conspicuous for disloyalty. The likeness of Marshal Kane, of the 19th of April notoriety, was taken down by the crowd, from a show-case, thrown into the street and stamped upon by the people. The military and police officers are making every effort to preserve the peace, or serious consequences might happen.

LOUISVILLE, April 16.

The city is in deep mourning. General Palmer has issued orders for all military organizations to drape their flags, &c.

NEW YORK, April 16.

The steamship Kangaroo from Liverpool, 31st ult has arrived. News anticipated.

The steamer Northern Light from Morehead City 14th inst., with 86 sick soldiers, arrived to-day.

The steamer Britannia from Glasgow has arrived.

WASHINGTON, April 15.

The Richmond Whig of yesterday contains the following:

Headquarters Department Virginia,
April 13, 1865.

Owing to recent events, the permission for the re-assembling of men recently acting as the Legislature of Virginia, is rescinded. Should any of the men come to the city under the notice of re-assembling, already published, they are to be furnished with passports to return to their homes. Any persons named in the call signed by J. A. Campbell and others, who are found in the city 12 hours after the publication of this notice, will be subject to arrest, unless they are residents of the city.

Major General Commanding.

Headquarters Department Virginia,
April 13, 1865.

General Order No. 37.

Provost Marshals will grant no passes to citizens from the North, or to officers, to come to this city, except on orders from the President, Secretary of War, Lieutenant General Grant, or the Department Commander. Officers and soldiers now in the city will return to their respective commands at once, or be subject to arrest and confinement. The Provost Marshal Gen'l is charged with the execution of this order.

(Signed) Major General Ord.

The Whig says Gen'l Weitzel has been relieved from his command and assigned to Petersburg and vicinity. Major Gen'l Ord assumes command of this Department.

The report that Lee arrived in this city on Wednesday was incorrect. It was General Custis Lee, who came to visit his mother—she being at City Point, he was kindly permitted to come to the city to see her. She is reported to be ill.

The whereabouts of Robert E. Lee is not known here outside of official circles. He is daily expected in Richmond.

NEW YORK, April 16.

Wilmington papers of the 8th contain no military news.

The advices of the capture of Richmond and Petersburg caused great rejoicing there.

MEETING AT OLDTOWN. At a very large meeting of the citizens of Oldtown, held on Saturday evening, on motion of J. H. Hilliard, Esq., David Norton, Esq., was called to the chair and James H. Purrington, Esq., appointed Secretary.

Hon. Geo. P. Sewall, J. H. Burgess, D. N. Esterbrook, Nahum Godfrey, Dan'l McCulloch, Geo. H. Dillingham and G. A. Burt, Esqs., were appointed a committee of resolutions and arrangements, and instructed to suggest forthwith the proper course to be adopted commemorative of the recent assassinations at Washington.

The meeting was addressed by the Chairman, Rev Charles Blanchard, Hon. G. P. Sewall, Dr. Alexander, E. B. P. Pierce, Esq., and others, and the following resolves were reported and adopted:

Resolved, That we have received with inexpressible horror and deep grief the appalling intelligence that our excellent and beloved President, and the venerable Secretary of State, have fallen by the hands of assassins, and that the day fixed by the constituted authorities of our country for the obsequies of the illustrious dead shall be properly observed in this town.

Resolved, That on that day we will assemble at the House of the First Congregational Parish, and the Rev. Dr. Shepard of Bangor be requested to pronounce a eulogy upon the great and good men who have thus fallen as martyrs to the cause of liberty, human rights and free government. That all places of business shall be then closed—our dwellings draped in mourning, the bells of the several churches tolled, and one hundred minute guns fired; and our municipal officers are requested to aid said committee of arrangements in the discharge of their duties.

Resolved, That the power of said committee is hereby continued, and such further action as they may direct shall be had.

Voted, That a copy of these proceedings be published in the several papers in Bangor.

WASHINGTON, April 16.

The funeral ceremonies of the late President will take place on Wednesday. The time for the remains to leave the city, as well as the route by which they will be taken to Springfield, is as yet undetermined. The procession will form at 11 o'clock, and the religious services will commence at noon, at which hour, throughout the land, the various religious societies have been requested to assemble in their respective places of worship for prayers.

The procession will move at two o'clock P. M.

The details will be made known as soon as perfected.

The acting Secretary of State has issued the following address—

To the People of the United States—

The undersigned is directed to announce that the funeral services of the late lamented Chief Magistrate will take place at the Executive Mansion in this city at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday the 19th inst. The various religious denominations throughout the country are invited to meet in their respective places of worship at that hour for the purpose of solemnizing the occasion with appropriate ceremonies.

VALUABLE

CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE!

ALL the property belonging to the GYMNASIUM COMPANY, situated on Columbia St., opposite the City Hall.

This property consists of the Lot of Land with the Gymnasium Building on the same, and the large Two-Story Dwelling House, partly on this Lot and partly on the Lot adjoining on the South.

The Lot is 54 feet on Columbia Street, by 100 feet deep.

The Gymnasium building is 35 by 80 feet, and is one of the finest structures in the city, combining architectural beauty with strength and durability. The lower story, which has been used as a Gymnasium, may as profitably, no doubt, be used for other purposes. It is admirably adapted for MACHINE SHOPS, or a Manufactory.

The Second Story contains a spacious HALL and Ante-Rooms, now used as the U. S. Hospital for disabled Soldiers, and is under rent of $150 per annum. These rooms have formerly been used as an Armory, and will always command a good rent.

The DWELLING HOUSE, standing partly on other land, is subject to a ground rent.

The location of this property is such as ought to attract the attention of capitalists, on account of its present and perspective value.

In addition to the above, is to be sold, all the Furniture and Fixtures of the Gymnasium. The whole will be sold at a great bargain.

The Harris Beater PRESS.

The Maine Beater Press Company,

HAVE become the owners of the JOHN K. HARRIS Patents for the above named Press for this State, and all parties interested in pressing hay for market, are invited to examine this Press before purchasing or using any other. This Press compresses hay into one half the bulk of that pressed by presses now in use, and the hay is worth $6 more per ton in the market. The cost of transportation by railroad and ship is about one half of that of the common pressed hay. The Harris Press is in operation in Kennebunk, Portland, Wiscasset, Gardiner, Augusta, Vassalboro, Waterville, Clinton, Skowhegan, Pittsfield, Bangor and Belfast, where persons interested can examine for themselves.

Persons wishing to purchase this Press and the right to use it in any territory in this State, will apply to the undersigned, or in his absence to A. LIBBY, Esq., of Augusta, Treasurer of the Company, who will give them all the information desired.

PETROLEUM!

Lombard & Gore, BOSTON Petroleum and Coal Stock EXCHANGE,

99 STATE STREET,
BOSTON,

Buy and Sell Oil and Coal Stocks on Commission, in New York, Philadelphia, and in Europe.

We believe we can offer superior inducements to all persons wishing to invest in Petroleum Stocks.

Such investments, as a class, offer greater inducements to persons of either large or small means, than any the world has ever known.

Many Petroleum Stocks are now paying at the rate of 60 per cent. per annum, and taking the increased value of the stock into consideration, a person investing at subscription price in reliable companies may reasonably expect to double their money within a year. Capitalists in all parts of the country are now giving their attention almost exclusively to this class of securities, which have already yielded princely fortunes to thousands of persons.

Persons desiring information can rely upon receiving an unbiassed account of the standing and prospects of the various companies in the market.

Receipts and Certificates will be forwarded in exchange for available funds, without charge; and Petroleum and Coal Stocks will be sold at the Brokers' Boards of New York and Philadelphia at the regular rates of commission.

We would call special attention to the following Companies.

The property of this Company is located on "Coal Creek," in Meigs County, State of Ohio, about ten miles from Athens, and within a short distance of the Ohio River, and contains One Hundred and Five Acres of Land. A large number of wells are successfully worked in the vicinity, some of which are paying handsome dividends. This Company propose to commence operations at once, and entertain no doubt that at an early day they will be able to pay a handsome per centage on the investment. The known ability and commercial standing of the officers of this Company afford a sufficient guaranty that the affairs will be conducted in a manner to secure the confidence of those who are disposed to invest in it.

The tract of land adjoining the property of this Company has passed into the hands of capitalists, who have sent out an experienced superintendent to commence operations, and their first order for machinery was $15,000. Our property has been examined under instructions from Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, who pronounces the coal, which is in abundance, to be of the best quality yielding eighty gallons of oil to the ton, and has no doubt, from the location and position of the property, that it will be found valuable in the production of oil. Most companies have to pay very high prices for their coal, all of which we save; oil can be manufactured from the coal upon the property, at a cost not exceeding ten cents per gallon, and it is proposed to commence the manufacture in connection with the sinking of wells. One dollar will buy a share of this stock, which is the par value, and all benefits derived from the lands, either by sales of oil, land, or products of any kind, are to be yielded among the stockholders, and in addition $200,000 worth of valuable useful and desirable property will be given to the stockholders, as soon as all the shares are disposed of. The property to be distributed among the stockholders as they may determine, and the quality and prices of the goods will be equal to any in the market. The Company adopt this course for the purpose of disposing of the stock at the par value, rather than to sell it, as many companies do, at a subscription price, which is usually one-half. Thus, it will be perceived that every stockholder owning ten shares, for example, will be sure to realize a handsome dividend when the property is divided: a plan which is entirely honorable, and in all respects perfectly legal.

Constitution Life Syrup,

COMPOSED OF IODINE POTASSIUM.

WITH THE COMPOUND CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF VALUABLE MEDICINAL ROOTS AND HERBS,

PREPARED BY

WILLIAM H. GREGG, M. D.,

Graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons New York; formerly Assistant Physician in the Blackwell's Island Hospitals, late Medical Inspector of the New York State Volunteer Depots, under Governor Edwin D. Morgan.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Has Produced a Revolution in Medicine

RAPIDITY OF CURE.

Some say, "Your cures are too quick," while others doubt their permanence, and think that diseases can only be cured by the "slow, recuperative process of Nature."

This is our reply: In health, the body, like a well-balanced scale, is in a state of equilibrium. But when, from any cause, down goes one side of the scale, we have the effects of disease. What is requisite, is to restore the normal balance of the scale.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Is a positive and specific remedy for all diseases originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

PARALYSIS.

It is so universally admitted that CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP is the only effective means of restoration in the various forms of Paralysis, that we need not reiterate that it is emphatically the Great Life-giving Power.

DYSPEPSIA,

Indigestion, Weight at Stomach, Flatulence, Liver Complaint, Want of Appetite, Bad Breath, Constipation, Biliousness.

SCROFULA.

Struma, King's Evil, Glandular Swellings, Erysipelas, Ulceration, Salt Rheum.

This (mixed) (hereditary and acquired), filling life with untold misery, is, by all usual medical remedies, incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

[Arthritis], Lumbago, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Gout, Tic Doloreux.

If there is any disease to which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in Rheumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases chronic or vicarious, of twenty or forty years' standing, have been cured by us.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of Mercury, removing the Bad Breath, and curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums, and secures the teeth as firmly as ever.

CONSITTUTION LIFE SYRUP

Eradicates, root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, like

ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES,

And all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

For all Forms of Ulcerative Diseases,

Either of the Nose, Throat, Tongue, Spine, Forehead, or Scalp, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

Diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Languor, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach, or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of Constitution Life Syrup.

As a general Blood-Purifying Agent, the LIFE SYRUP stands unrivalled by any preparation in the world. The rich and poor are liable to the same diseases. Nature and Science have made the Constitution Life Syrup for the benefit of all.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP is the Poor Man's Friend, and the Rich Man's Blessing. Buy it, take it, and be cured.

Cleanse the Blood.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaint and Heart Diseases. Try AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still, we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere, at wholesale of W. S. Alden & Co., Bangor; S. A. Howes & Co., Belfast; J. W. Perkins & Co., and W. F. Phillips, Portland, Me.

HALE'S Honey of Horehound and Tar,

FOR THE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

THIS infallible remedy is composed of the Honey of the plant Horehound, in chemical union with Tar Balm, extracted from the LIFE PRINCIPLE of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead.

The Honey of Horehound soothes and scatters all irritations and inflammations, and the Tar-Balm cleanses and heals the throat and air passages leading to the lungs. Five additional ingredients keep the organs cool, moist, and in healthful action. Let no prejudice hinder you from testing this sovereign remedy of an illustrious physician and chemist, who himself thoroughly tested it for years in his extensive practice. It is safe, sure, and pleasant, the Tar-Balm being entirely free from the offensive qualities of common tar.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

—FOR THE—

HUMAN HAIR,

IS A SURE THING. It will positively restore grey Hair to its original color, whether black or brown. It re-invigorates the capillaries, and prevents the Hair from falling off by giving a healthy flow to the secretions. Removes all dandruff, heat and itching of the head, and is a superior dressing of the hair. It does not soil the skin nor the whitest linen. It has in its composition the virtues of a plant unknown to any other manufacturer, which enables the proprietor to defy any person or persons to produce its equal for the thorough manner in which it accomplishes its work of renovating, invigorating and rejuvenating the Human Hair.

Prepared only by JOSEPH L. GIOFRAY & CO., 5, Custom House Block, Rockland, Me.

For sale wholesale and retail in Bangor by Warren L. Alden & Co., and by all druggists.
